JDW:Reur 28 and Sun/ Linda Fergueson review HR's book: I did hear and did have [illegible] celine and may have suggested you as reviewer. Don't recall. The literary quarterly is quite a production. The mention of my work by Razmitazz may have resulted in a couple of nut letters and perhaps an order. I think some woman tore a piece of the review out and sent it to me with an inquiry about the book. Don't know if she ever got it. However, I think a decent review of Howard's book without the application of the Raz's unique genius would inform the Sun's readers whether or not it would sell Howard's book over the staunch opposition of his publisher. Whether or not the books are reviewed together I think Howard's would have to suffer from reference to content and I'd prefer to have none of my own or a delayed one rather than have this fine simplification of the essentially unnew be bracketed with on overkill of new evidence...Nothing more on The Two. And we have a kitchen fill of 5000 oversized envelopes from PM! The size rejected a month ago, when the printer was commissioned to order one specially made if stock sizes did not provide a snug fit. So it goes. Best,
